An international nonprofit organization in Canada transforms its contact center with Webex CC

A unified platform for handling multiple communication channels, and efficient agent interactions

About the client

The client is a well-known international nonprofit organization operating in various communities in Canada. They provide essential services to address critical social issues and local community needs, ranging from healthcare, food, and shelter to mental health, addiction support, legal and financial assistance, support for seniors, childhood development, neighborhood planning, community engagement, social innovation, and public policy.

Requirements

The client needed a comprehensive cloud-based solution for their new contact center. They aimed to consolidate multiple telephony systems into a single, easy-to-use platform that efficiently handles voice, web chat, email, and SMS channels.

Solution

Servion, a global service delivery partner of Cisco Systems, recommended the Cisco Webex Contact Center solution to address the client's needs. To demonstrate the solution capabilities, Servion provided several demos to the stakeholders and set up a trial tenant for the client's IT personnel to have hands-on experience with the solution.

The implementation involved creating queues for Voice, Chat, Email, and SMS channels to provide services such as ADIRS, Game support, Senior support, and Ukraine voice. Integration with the client's CRM system allowed agents convenient access to CRM screens, streamlining caller assistance. Servion worked closely with Cisco Systems to devise a unique solution that identified and diverted SMS messages from customers in British Columbia away from the national 211 service users to ensure better-localized support.

Additionally, Servion was engaged by the client to provide break-fix support and handle moves, adds, changes, deletions to configurations over three years. It was a first-of-its-kind implementation of the Webex Contact Center solution in Canada
